

Financial Literacy

Financial Literacy is part of the math and career studies curriculum, including understanding the value and use of money over time, how to manage personal finances and the value of budgeting and investing wisely.

Ontario is now offering interactive online lessons that can be used at home to help your teenager make connections between what is learned in the classroom and everyday experiences.

Talk to your teen about:

- setting financial goals
- creating a budget to help save for a goal, such as a new phone or new clothes
- opening a bank account
- applying for a credit card
- avoiding financial scams
- exploring a career in finance

Visit ontario.ca/financialliteracy to access these free interactive online lessons.

